

FCC. I do believe tyhat morse code should be retained for the general and extra class license. Although a big CW user, I have used it in times where voice could not get through We have lots of band space for the code and its use makes a ham a better operator. Thus more reliable in case of a major emergency. It may be slower but isn't it better to get the message through? 73 Joe